Introduction

Throughout the year, Apple requires developers to review and accept updated Apple Developer Program License Agreements. These updated agreements have to be accepted or we will be unable to make administration level changes or additions to your application.

Prerequisite

In order to accept any new agreements, you will need to log into a user account with the Account Holder level of permission for your application.

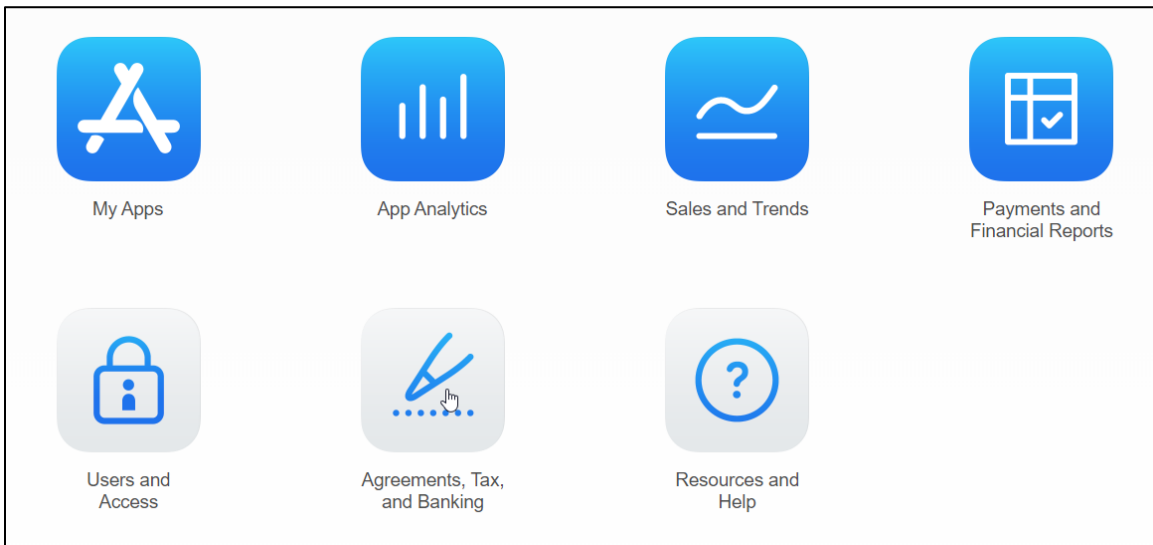

If you are not sure whether you have a pending agreement, go to <https://appstoreconnect.apple.com>, you will see a banner telling you what agreements need to be addressed.

 The updated Apple Developer Program License Agreement needs to be reviewed.
In order to update your existing apps and submit new apps to the App Store, the user with the Legal role (Team Agent) must review and accept the updated agreement in their account on the developer website.

Viewing the Agreements

To view the pending agreements, go to <https://appstoreconnect.apple.com> and log in to your developer account.

Click the Agreements, Tax, and Banking Icon.

In the list of Agreements, click any agreement that is flagged as having a New Agreement Available in its Status.
